"Don't Expect Too Much From Social Security," Says Vinson

"When you retire, Social Security may well become your most valuable asset; still," cautions Mr. William J. Vinson, Lynchburg District Manager, "you should not expect too much."

Disappointment, Vinson continued, is sure to come to those who rely on apparently widespread rumors that payments will be based on earnings in such periods as the "two high", "five high", or "last two years". These reports are misleading an cause many people to expect the maximum payments when they have had only a few years of maximum earnings.

Payments, it is true, are based on the worker's average earnings during a certain number of years (called "Computation years") but the number of such years is not the same for everyone. The year a worker attains retirement age (65 for men, 62 for women) is used to determine the number of computation years.

Based on average life expectancy, an insured worker and his wife who begin payments at 65 could receive, Vinson reports, total monthly payments of from about $10.000 (on low average earnings) to over $34.000 (on high average earnings).

It is just good business, Vinson concludes, for anyone nearing retirement age to find out just how much he can expect. free booklet or specific advise is available upon request at your Social Security Office, 3412 Langhorne Road, Lynchburg, Virginia.

How Long Will It Burn?
question will be answered sometime after December ch time the Bank of Appomattox will light this five ax candle. Cash prizes are waiting for the best as well as an opportunity to enter a national Christ-contest. It's all part of a campaign to sign up addi-Christmas Club members. Total savings by members set a new record for Appomattox, Mrs. W. W. Burke, is the president of the bank, gave contestants two ints. Note that the candle is beeswax, she said (burns han ordinary candles), and the fact that the brass that top will "mold" the candle as it burns, thus ing "drips" and loss of wax.
